This column has much to say to its readers from now until election time but lack of time forbids any observations this week. The Herald closed for July Fourth and could not take care of all the reading matter. The Herald follows the policy of extending to its employees the benefits of all national holidays and vacations of two weeks each year for its staff and during the vacation period it is difficult to keep up with demands. Watch for the old column next week.

DR. J. C. HARDY SUPPORTS GOVERNOR AL SMITH

BAYLOR COLLEGE PRESIDENT HAS NO FEARS AS TO PROHIBITION NULLIFICATION

Belton, July 3.—Dr. J. C. Hardy, president of Baylor college and delegate to both the state and national democratic conventions today at the weekly luncheon of the Belton Rotary club discussed the events of those two great gatherings and declared that he would support Governor Al Smith for president notwithstanding the fact that he was not his personal choice or the choice of the majority of the Texas delegation to the national convention.

Dr. Hardy discussed the democratic party at length and declared that it is the only real national party. He said that the Volstead act would not be repealed with Governor Smith president but instead expressed the opinion that as the years passed on prohibition would become more effective. He said there would be no more danger of repealing the Volstead law than there would be of repealing the Fourteenth amendment.

The speaker pleaded for unity in the democratic party and stressed the importance and necessity of electing good congressmen and good United States Senators to the national house. His remarks were educational and enthusiastically received.

Paul Baker, retiring president of the club announced that Roy Sanderford, the newly elected president would take charge of the club next Tuesday week. Mr. Sanderford made a short talk at the luncheon today and pleaded for the continued co-operation of the members in their work for the club. He said that one of his aims would be to get in still closer touch with the Temple club.

Coleman Eads was toastmaster at the luncheon. Miss Mary Dean Jackson delighted her hearers with a violin solo. Miss Catherine Cline was accompanist.

LOYAL TEXAS DEMOCRATS TO ORGANIZE CAMPAIGN

ADAMS, NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN DOES NOT WANT HALTING MINUTE MEN FOR PARTY

Dallas, Tex., July 3.—Jed C. Adams, democratic national committeeman for Texas, today announced that he had asked D. W. Wilcox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee to call that body together for the purpose of perfecting a state organization composed of democratic committeemen, state, county and precinct, who are wholeheartedly in sympathy with the democratic party, its platform and its nominees.

Democratic Principles

"The democratic party is not and never has been a one-idea party," declared Mr. Adams. "Loyal democrats have never demanded that the party agree with them in all their ideas of government, but they have gone on the good old democratic principle that democrats should fight their battles inside their party and not outside of it. They believe that the party as a whole is a wiser than any individual member of it or any group of its membership."

Just Plain Democrats

The Texas committeeman declared that he had no patience with those who call themselves "Hoover democrats."

"They might as well use one word and wear the name they really have assumed for themselves and call themselves republicans," he said. "The only division in Texas in national politics this year will be between the republican and democratic parties. You will find yourself in one camp or the other."

"The democratic house is the house of your fathers, it is the house of liberty and of tolerance; it is the house of the individual and the common man."

Hoover and Jim Crow Laws

Continuing, Mr. Adams said, in part:

"Those who decline to vote the democratic ticket will find themselves going into the party which always has been the enemy and oppressor of our people, whose nominee shortly before he was named as their standard bearer saw fit to issue an order requiring that the whites and blacks in his department should occupy the same desks."

"If the republican party remains in power under existing conditions a sufficient length of time the great question which will agitate the minds of the people, at least of the south, in the coming years will be whether our Jim Crow laws shall be repealed; whether or not prohibition of intermarriage between races shall be repealed; in a word, I want to say to the democrats of Texas that in a little while it is entirely possible that there will be no color line drawn as far as your public schools are concerned and your children, if they attend the public schools will attend only those where black and white alike are entitled by law to come."

FARMERS MUTUAL MEETS IN CAMERON TUESDAY

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY MEETS

Monday morning the Executive Committee of the Farmers' Mutual Protective Association of Texas met at Cameron in its semi-annual session.

The following were present: J. A. Drozd, La Grange, President; T. Drozd, Taylor, Vice-president; J. N. Vavra, Caldwell, Treasurer; F. P. Matucha, Cameron, Attorney; F. A. Matucha, Cameron, Tom Motis, West and J. Nemic, Directors and A. Stiborik, editor of the official organ.

The organization was organized in Bell County in 1901 and has steadily grown since that date. It is recognized today as one of the strongest mutual fire insurance associations in Texas. The policies are accepted by all loan companies, including the Federal Land Bank.

The average rate for the past ten years was less than 25c a hundred dollars. Not a single just claim has been contested and the insurance, in case of loss, is paid promptly.

GOV. ALFRED EMANUEL SMITH

Democratic Standard Bearer Named At Houston

DEMOCRATS NAME SMITH-ROBINSON AS THEIR TICKET

Big Gathering of the Unterrified Held at Houston

PARTY HARMONY PREVAILED

Gov. Smith and Followers Dominated the Convention So Far As Nomination Was Concerned—Long Parley Over Prohibition Plank in Platform.

BY WRIGHT A. PATTERSON
San Houston Hall, Houston.—In the words of Will Rogers the national democracy met in Houston to nominate a candidate for vice-president. Of course, there was the small formality of ratifying the nomination of the presidential candidate, and the ticket named was:

GOV. ALFRED E. SMITH of New York nominated for president on the first ballot.

SENATOR JOSEPH T. ROBINSON, of Arkansas, nominated for vice-president on the first ballot.

Aside from the naming of a ticket there was much discussion, and long hours of argument over the things to which the assembled democracy "pointed with pride," and those things which they "viewed with alarm." In the end a platform was adopted, and the following is a summary of its more important planks:

The prohibition plank, a compromise between the extreme wets and extreme dries, "viewed with alarm" the lax enforcement of the eighteenth amendment on the part of the Republican administration, and promised a strict enforcement of that and all other laws.

On the subject of farm relief the Republicans were condemned for failure to pass suitable legislation, and the farmers were promised speedy relief by the Democratic party, but without specifying just what form the relief should take.

Burning denunciations were hurled at Republican corruption in office, and a promise to seek out all evil doers when a Democratic president had been inaugurated.

There were the important subjects covered by the platform adopted Thursday night. Other planks covered the usual things found in political platforms, and in much the usual way. The only plank on which there regarding the enforcement of the prohibition laws, and the dries had attempted to write into it an approval of the Eighteenth Amendment, but without success.

The Show Opens

The big show opened promptly Tuesday noon with a brief session disposed of a number of formalities. Following the invocation by Bishop Hay, of the Methodist church south, and a rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner," "America," and "Dixie," by Miss Melvina Passmore of Houston, came a brief speech of welcome by Mayor Holcombe. His Honor did not tell the audience all that he might have told them. He did not tell them that the magnificent hall in which they were meeting, with a seating capacity of better than 25,000, had been built specially for the convention at a cost of about $200,000, but he might have done so. He did not tell them that Houston had spent better than one-half million dollars, including the contribution to the national committee, in preparing for and entertaining the convention.

did tell each Joan and Bill, each Kate and Mary, was that Houston was mighty glad they had all dropped in, and invited them right out to the kitchen to have a cup of tea and a piece of cake. That little speech was very typical of Houston hospitality.

It was not until the evening session that old time democratic enthusiasm really showed itself. It came when Claude Bowers, the gifted keynote, sang the praises of Democratic heroes.

Splendid Fraternalists of Rockdale Honored

John E. Cook, editor of the Rockdale Reporter is a Pythian of his home city and has been for many years. He is a life member of the Texas Press Association by reason of his being past president of this Association an honor that came to him eight years ago, when elected, said he considered the brethren of the Texas Press had conferred upon him the greatest honor that ever had or ever could come his way in life, a fact no one would disapprove. Be it to the credit of John E. Cook; there has never been a single man in any of the many presidents which served who was not proud of John E. Cook, and no one was ever more successful in securing of a large membership to the association, as well as placing it on a high tone from every angle. Also his lovable qualities added to his acknowledged ability, have made him peculiarly successful from every angle, both as a fraternalist and as a newspaper man in the beautiful city of Rockdale, where he has so long resided.

It was in Temple last year where John, along with his Faber pusher, were each and both assigned to places in the great Temple Sanitarium, and on convalescent stages it was there where we both met to gather up the fragments incident to operations of days that had gone, proud of the fact that through a kind providence, each and both had been spared to "carry on." Yet who could not improve? The wilderness of flowers, coupled with the visitation of friends, when the convalescent stage was reached, with doctors, whose skill is rarely matched—were not those benefactions—"was not that love indeed."

There will be a call meeting of the B. P. W. Tuesday night, July 3 at Wayside Inn for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. A delegate to the State convention will be selected at this meeting.

CRACKLINGS

I've contended at times that the "Great Maker of All," got one thing reversed. When we need wisdom most, we have least. When entering high school, when we should select a course for life's work, we know least about what we are cut out for. When entering college it's even worse. Then when we should know the seriousness and responsibilities of marriage, we are engulfed in utter ignorance about it all. When we are finally wise, we are ready to die. But say, would we have it all different after all? Think it over.

Have you noted this happen? When a man gets strong enough to say a firm "No" to certain types of propositions, something comes along all dressed up until he's sure it is different and he promptly says "Yes" and zip goes another $500.

What's worrying the big successful men today? The income tax? Labor troubles? Business slumps? Market troubles? No. These are a part of business trials and pills, a part of the day's job. The thing that justly worries most of them is how to bring up their sons so they will be able to stand on their own feet and lift themselves to where their opportunities and advantages should put them.

Men know you can't buy success for young men ready-made. Oads often forget that good sons want the satisfaction of accomplishing something for themselves. Bring "dummies" on the payroll of life, or dad's business doesn't bring happiness, manhood, or self respect to any young man. Any more than the four year clamor for fraternity honors ever helps much after two years out of college.

Which reminds me of a dad's remark the other day about college fraternities. He said: "I told my son it was alright to join if he wished, but my opinion was that it takes the most of his four years time to make and break into the fraternity, and then 8 years after he was out of school to realize that the frat brother couldn't fight his business, social, matrimonial and assorted battles."

Good will is the happy combination of two words. It is the greatest intangible asset a man or a business can possess. It applies in every walk of life. I was visiting in a nearby town not long ago and as I was coming back from this town I tried to analyze why it was I liked this town so much and its people, and I came to this conclusion. I got up early one morning and walked out around the town. Everyone I met said, "Good morning sir," and had a pleasant smile. I wonder if that is town good will and can be applied to Cameron.

The difference between some folks and the worm is that the worm eventually turns.

I came upon this by George Graham Vest some time ago. Read it.

A Tribute to a Dog

The best friend man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter whom he has reared with loving care, may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith.

The money that man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us, may be the first to throw the stone of malice, when failure settles its clouds upon our heads.

The one absolute, unselfish friend a man may have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground when wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he can be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer. He will lick the sores and wounds that come in the encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince.

When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in his journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth, and outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard him against danger, to fight against his enemies.

And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and the body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all friends pursue their way, there by his grave side will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness—faithful and true even to death.

Mr. H. R. Edwards is the first Texas representative of the National Life Association of Des Moines, Iowa to have gained the distinction of membership in the Better Business Club of his company. His achievement of this distinction is greatly pleasing for it notes that out of a spirited throut by large numbers of salesmen through the United States Mr. Edwards has so far exceeded the field to be placed among the early members for that honor. He is very proud of the little button that he is able to wear and his certificate of membership which points him out as one very efficient and well grounded in his chosen field of endeavor.

Mr. Edwards has been identified with the teaching profession in Milam county for a number of years and is well known over the county, being at present superintendent of the public schools at Milano.

FINE PROGRESS IS MADE BY TROOP 1 BOY SCOUTS

FIVE FIRST CLASS SCOUTS AND TWO EAGLE SCOUTS IN PANTHER PATROL

The following report by Scoutmaster Joe Matula for Boy Scout Troop No. 1 will be of interest to the members of the Troop as well as the parents of this splendid troop.

Troop No. 1 had its regular meeting Monday at 6:30 p. m. with a large attendance. Two new members were initiated by the first patrol.

The third patrol was named the Black Cat Patrol which makes the first known as Panther Patrol, second as Hounds. These three are now well organized and completed. The fourth is now under way and will be completed as soon as enough new members can be admitted. This will then make a full troop of 32 boys.

The feature of this troop is the Panther Patrol which now has five first class scouts and two Star Scouts. The Scoutmaster is not boasting but he is very proud of this patrol especially as any person who has any scouting experience knows this is quiet an achievement. I say hats off to the Panther Patrol.

Beginning with the Monday meeting a contest is being held between these three patrols on games, lectures and various other scout activities and for which the scribe is grading them accordingly. Ben Atkinson Jr., F. E. Jackson, Jr., and Giles Avriett Jr., representing each patrol made a short talk on the most important parts of Scouting. F. E. Jackson Jr., was unanimously given 100 per cent credit for his patrol for a very beautiful talk on The Scout Oath. Ben Atkinson Jr., also made a wonderful talk on the oath and Giles Avriett Jr., also made a talk on the Scout law.

One troop now has in its membership two very active Scouts from Buckholts who attend regularly. I think this ought to be a good example for some of the Scouts who are poor on attendance. This troop happens to have two or three boys who are poor on attendance and could improve their interest in Scouting.

The local council is planning a three day camp on the river week after next. Hope the boy's parents will urge their boys to attend this camp as it will be strictly under the supervision of the local council composed of Messrs. C. H. Pollard, F. E. Jackson, Rev. J. P. Love and Scoutmasters.

Troop No one holds a vacant chair for Roy Weems Jr. in all their meetings who has been ill for three weeks. The boys miss him very much and all express their sorrow and sympathy and are hoping for and awaiting for the day to come when Scout Roy Weems will be back with us.

Albany, N. Y., June 29.—Gov. Al. Smith, democratic candidate for the presidency, sent the following telegram of congratulation today to his newly nominated running mate, Sen. Joseph T. Robinson:

"When we campaigned together through the state of New York in 1920, I little thought at that time that I would have the great honor bestowed on me by the convention and I little thought that when we would campaign together it would be for the presidency and vice presidency of the United States. I received the word of your nomination with a great deal of personal satisfaction and joy. Your constructive record in behalf of the country and our party assures me a strong, vigorous running mate. Tell the folks at home that I share in their pleasure and satisfaction."

GETTING NEW BUSINESS

The progressive business firm finds that it needs to be constantly making new friends and creating a new circle of customers. If it just depends on satisfying those who have previously bought its goods, it is likely to see its trade diminished. Population changes more rapidly now than formerly, and if a firm has a certain list of customers this year, it can expect, as the result of all the changes that naturally occur, that a considerable proportion of those customers will not be on the list in a year or two.

Also people are changeable in their habits, and unless a very energetic effort is made to hold old customers by advertising, a lot of them will go elsewhere, attracted by the various inducements that are offered them.

People are not much inclined as they were often formerly, just to trade at one place or a few places right along year after year. They are quick to get the idea, if some firm seems to be hustling a little harder than its competitors to please the people, and no feeling of habit or sentiment of loyalty is apt to hold them if they think they can do better by going elsewhere for something they want.

By an active campaign of advertising, a firm can keep making new business friends, to make up for those who drift elsewhere. It does not take elaborate persuasion to win such new customers in these times.

People are ready to go to any place of business where the spirit of enterprise and hustle seems to prevail. A concern that makes it a regular practice to advertise even if it does not take any great amount of space, will have a constant stream of inquirers entering its doors who will more than make up for old customers who go elsewhere.

LIFE IN THE COUNTRY

Considerable discussion is being heard these days as to the means that may be adopted to keep folks on the farm. The situation has become serious, for many experienced farmers are moving into the cities, either for the purpose of earning what they consider easier money, or to use their savings in giving their children and themselves the advantage of city life. Whatever the cause, the situation remains, and it constitutes a problem that may well engage the attention of national and state authorities. The fear is expressed that the production of food may become reduced to such an extent that the scarcity will not only greatly increase prices, but threaten the welfare of the people.

While the reasoning is purely academic and subject to the views of each individual it is probably true that the persons who make occasional trips from the rural districts to the larger towns enjoy these visits and the things they see much more than those who see them every day. It is a case where familiarity sometimes breeds contempt. In the matter of better school facilities in the towns, there is in most cases no place for argument, although some progress has been made in a number of states to bring about a centralization of teaching that gives country pupils some of the advantages of the city in a course of study.

There is nothing to justify undue pressure to keep men and women and boys and girls on the farms. Rural life should be so attractive in itself that enough persons will make choice of the country life to insure the crops of grain and quantities of other foodstuffs needed to maintain all the people at a reasonable cost.

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY

There is always more or less worry connected with money. Those of us who do not have it worry about it, and those of us who have it are often put to a great deal of worry in hanging on to it. In addition to this no little worry is brought on by the desire to make a jitney grow where only a penny grew before. It seems as though poets and philosophers have conspired to bring money into disrepute, so anxious are they to tell us that the mere possession of it is a great burden.

In more recent times there has come to us the warning that money carries germs. Germ experts even went so far as to demonstrate that a bank clerk's occupation was particularly hazardous because he handles so much money. But now this dread has been dispelled. After exhaustive investigation on the subject of money as germ carriers two Illinois University experts assure us that this danger has been greatly exaggerated. It seems that the metals from which coins are made act as destroyers of bacteria.

This relieves us of the worry connected with the handling of money. The next thing for some expert to do is to tell us how we may be relieved of our worries in trying to get hold of it.

Men who write books about themselves are full of their subjects.

The man who talks to himself wants to hear something he can believe.

A man may be down, but he is not out until he is down in the mouth.

Shock absorbers on autos would be better if the driver could wear them.

Sometimes a man finds he can't make ends meet because they are loose ends.

All that stands between us and a hot time is the rest of this summer's ice.

With so many other things to worry about some men insist on wondering if their hair is combed.

How dull business would be if every man refrained from buying until he could afford it.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR
It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, say well-known druggists here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful. This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping." Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or narcotics. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. What Causes Growth?

The Menard Messenger asks "What is causing Menard to grow?" The question can be answered in one word, "Activity." Activity causes all growth for the inactive child soon dwells. The inactive mind soon loses power to function. Menard became inactive a number of years ago, but finally awoke to the fact that it was dying. The people decided to improve conditions and went earnestly and persistently to work to do it. Menard is now among the most progressive little cities in Texas. If your community isn't growing better, it is solely because of its inactivity.

Improving Dairy Herds

Wherever creameries, cheese factories, or milk products factories of any kind are established there is an immediate improvement noticeable in the dairy herds. This is noticeable all over the State. Marshall had no sooner secured a milk products factory than the business men began to assist the farmers in improving the milk cattle of the country. Round Rock with its cheese factory has awakened Williamson county to a high interest in greater milk production. That interest has spread to Travis and Milam counties. The Buda cheese factory, established last month, is already creating a demand for cows capable of supplying more and better milk.

Poultry Industry, Too

Wherever interest increases in dairy cattle, it is invariably followed by improvement in the poultry of the section. Poultry thrives on the waste products of the dairy. It is as easy to care for the best laying hens as the poorest. It is no more expensive to raise a large turkey than a runt. Around Cuero the farmers are said to be in doubt as to which are paying them best, the dairy cows, the poultry or the pigs. This is a combination hard to beat.

San Marcos Waterworks

Good examples are far-extending. Not long ago Taylor decided to own its own waterworks and to have a plant worth while. When bonds were voted by about ten to one, San Marcos sent a delegation to Taylor to see why and how. Now San Marcos, not to be outdone, has voted 308 to 30 for a $150,000 bond issue for constructing its own adequate waterworks system. San Marcos has as good water as can be found anywhere and has it in greatest abundance.

Millions In Irrigation

There are 549 acres under irrigation or in projects already planned in Southwest Texas. The Rio Grande Valley has some 350,000 acres under irrigation ditches. Before many more years have passed every stream in West Texas that hasn't been given to power companies will be supplying the valleys with water for irrigation and the power companies will be selling their surplus water for irrigation. North Texas is also alive to the value of irrigation and already has thousands of acres under ditches. It is impossible to estimate the future water-wealth of Texas, a wealth that has so long been dormant.

Gasoline Shortage

A State inspector of weights and measures recently bought gasoline at 64 San Antonio stations and found 56 of these gave short measure. The inspector was kind enough to attribute the shortage to carelessness rather than to thievery. It is strange, however, that in so many cases the carelessness resulted in gain to the seller and loss to the buyer.

It is impossible to check up closely on gasoline supply stations with the present force of inspectors. The Secretary of the San Antonio Automobile League has given out figures that indicate that gasoline users in Texas pay annually for more than $3,000,000 worth of gasoline they do not get.

Why Burnet County Prospers

The Marble Falls Messenger tells in a brief statement why Burnet county people are prosperous. It is because they always sell more than they need to buy. They ship granite, wool, mohair, pecans, poultry, turkeys, cotton, cattle, cedar, sand, gravel and a lot of other things that go to make up a large and constant source of revenue—greater than the people need to spend for the things they have to buy. Every prosperous section of Texas is doing the same thing. Editor Faubion merely shows the items that Burnet county is supplying. Your county should do just as well in furnishing other things the world wants.

Snyder Gas Celebration

Any town has a right to be proud of getting gas and should celebrate the event. Therefore Snyder turned out en masse, with brass band, and speech making and cooking demonstrations, and the like to show it felt about the turning of natural gas into the mains. A large part of the people of Scurry county were on hand to help. Snyder has become noted for doing things of a worth-while way. Just now it is intensely interested to get a road from Roswell, New Mexico to Snyder as a part of a proposed line to the Gulf at Corpus Christi.

The Wheat Harvest

About the most interesting picture in Texas just now is the wheat harvest in the Panhandle where thousands of harvest hands, harvesting machines and threshing machines are busy getting the golden grain ready for market. Fully 25 per cent of the wheat fields in the upper plains are under cultivation this year for the first time. The yield is so abundant that the railroads are having trouble in getting and distributing freight cars in a way to handle the crop to best advantage.

Cotton Pests Proliferate

County farm agents in Central and Southern Texas report that boll weevils, cotton fleas and other pests are appearing in unusual numbers in the cotton fields and that unless farmers are alert they will suffer great loss from them. The acreage in Texas is reported about 1,000,000 in excess of last year, but the late planting because of cold, together with the activity of weevils and fleas, threatens to make the production under that of last year.

Polk County Diversification

Polk county around Livingston has awakened to the value of diversification through organized effort at growing tomatoes, cucumbers and potatoes. Experiments conducted this year have been largely in the nature of farm schools under competent management and they have been most satisfying in their returns. Carload shipments have brought profitable returns from 80 acres of tomatoes and 75 acres of cucumbers. Next year cabbage will be added to the list of large acreage production. Restoration of much land thought to have been worn out is one of the expected results of the movement.

BANKERS PROMOTE FARM CONTESTS

Standard methods of farm administration have been made the basis of a contest by bankers of Pickens County, Alabama, as a method of bringing a farm and home program to their patrons, says the bulletin of the Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association. A safe and profitable farm community is the goal in this work.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON BUILDING AN INCOME

As Aunt Emmy came out of the savings bank she met young George Oliver.

"Well, well," he said, "it's funny to see you coming out of a savings bank, Aunt Emmy. I thought only poor folks like me had money in savings banks—people like you just clip coupons!"

"Have you a savings bank account?" countered Aunt Emmy.

"Well, er—I suppose I haven't," he admitted. "You see, it's hard to save money when you're first married. Somehow there never seems to be enough money to go 'round—let alone to put in a savings bank."

"You never will have if you don't get started," interrupted Aunt Emmy. "You should make your weekly savings deposit, no matter how small, the first claim on your salary after paying your bills. I make my weekly deposit in this bank faithfully—I put away a certain sum regularly."

"You can!" Nat commented. "It is more a habit than you would suppose," Aunt Emmy continued. "Any one can do it who is willing to let other things wait. I began putting a little money in a savings bank years ago when it was no joke to save a few pennies. I remember what a wonderful thrill I got the first time I saw my interest entered in my bank book. There was money that my money had earned all by itself. After that it was a sort of game with me to put a certain sum in the bank, even if I had to do without things I would have enjoyed having. Now I realize what it means to keep your money busy earning all the time so I continue to put a little in the savings bank regularly and, after it accumulates, I draw some out and invest in safe securities that pay a higher rate of interest than savings. All the time, you see, the money is working for me."

"Of course, when the sum is small, it earns little, but if you start young, as you and Molly are, it is almost like magic the way it mounts up after a few years—then when your savings get grown up into a real investment they earn a real income."

"I never thought of it in that light," said George.

"Try it—and see for yourself how it works," urged Aunt Emmy. "Have you ever thought how nice it would be to have a few dollars ready for use in case of an emergency? Accidents and illnesses do happen. Or suppose you had an opportunity to buy something you knew you could sell at a profit and you had to let the opportunity slip for the lack of a few hundred dollars. You and Molly would never miss five dollars a week—and if you keep at it, it will work wonders!"

"You're right, it would!" exclaimed George. "I'll talk to Molly tonight, Aunt Emmy, and see if we can't revise our expenditures."

"There would be a whole lot less family trouble and worry over money matters if every young couple did the same thing early in life," Aunt Emmy said. "Start young," is the magic slogan."

and Democratic achievements, but more especially when he paid his compliments to the erstwhile enemy, the Republicans. It was a brilliant oratorical effort, well worthy of all the thunderous applause it received.

That first evening session, and the session on Friday that marked the actual choosing of Gov. Smith as the party standard bearer, were the really notable sessions of the convention. Beside them other sessions seemed tame, but at these two there was no lack of Democratic red fire, and no evidence of Democratic discord.

The Religious Issue

In the Wednesday forenoon session at which the permanent chairman, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, was selected, a real demonstration was started by the chairman's reference to that clause in the constitution which provides that religion shall not be a bar to political preferment. New York sat quiet until many other states had joined in the demonstration. Georgia, Missouri, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina, either refused to join in the demonstration, or did so after much persuasion. Illinois, like New York, waited until other states had led the demonstration.

Other references to the religious issue were made in several of the speeches recording the nomination of Gov. Smith. Each speaker insisting that his faith should in no way be considered a bar to his nomination.

The Nominating Speeches

The speeches placing the names of the several candidates for the presidential nomination before the convention were listened to with intense interest on Wednesday evening. Franklin Roosevelt named Gov. Smith, as he did four years ago at New York, but the Smith forces did not make an effort to carry the convention by storm as they did at New York. It was not needed, and it would not have been good politics. Others named the various favorite sons, and each received a full measure of applause and a demonstration.

While there was never any doubt as to the result of the balloting the Smith forces were specially anxious that all the favorite sons be placed before the convention, and each receive one or more complimentary ballots. The difficulty was in keeping everybody from climbing onto the Smith bandwagon on the first ballot, or at least before a vote had been cast for other candidates. The effort was to prevent any appearance of steam roller tactics.

Harmony Prevails

It was a convention over which there had been much talk as to what the dry south would and would not do, as to what the wet east would and would not do, but when it was all over all had agreed to the few compromises that were necessary to produce party harmony. As to the candidate it was best expressed by half a dozen delegates on Tuesday morning. They were from dry Kansas. Two of them were arguing that Gov. Smith was not a proper candidate to represent the people of Kansas. The other four agreed that that was true but they were going to vote for his nomination. "Why?" asked one of the opponents. "Because we want to win," replied the four in chorus. And that tells the story of the nomination. Democracy wants to win if it is possible, and Democracy believes Al Smith can poll more votes than any other candidate that could be selected. With Smith as the candidate the delegates could not build a platform which the candidate could not accept, and so the south and the dry west were willing to accept a compromise on the prohibition plank.

Everything was so harmonious that it did not seem like a Democratic convention. It lacked much of the hilarity, the flaccid encounters, the red fire and the roar that has been characteristic of Democratic conventions. If the delegations represented the rank and file of the party it can safely be said that Democracy goes into the fight to defeat the ticket nominated at Kansas City as a united party. It will take a count of the votes next November to tell the rest of the story.

Many Ideas on Platform

The real fight of the convention came in the resolutions committee. There were submitted to that committee at least as many plans favoring prohibition, favoring the enforcement of the present law, or opposing the present law, as there were delegations. Among these the one submitted by Gov. Moody

Texas, calling for a strict enforcement and strong endorsement of the present law, was the most radical on that side. Somewhat milder was the one submitted by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, calling for the strict enforcement of all laws, but naming specifically the eighteenth amendment. Former Secretary Josephus Daniels submitted a somewhat similar plank, though a little differently worded. On the other side there came from the New York delegation a plank denouncing the present law and proposing that each state be permitted to name the amount of alcoholic content permissible in that state. From the dry southern states as well as some of the central and mountain states there came dire prophecies of what results might be expected in November should the wet ideas of New York, New Jersey, New England, and some of the other northern states prevail. Gov. Moody indicated that the adoption of such a plank would be "an overdraft on the loyalty of the south for the Democratic party."

Texas Hospitality

Houston and all Texas gave the Democratic hosts a royal welcome, and extended the very maximum of that brand of hospitality for which the south is famous. From the time the delegate stepped off the train to be met by a blare of tubas and the thud of bass drums, until he crossed the state line on his homeward journey, there was not a moment when there was not being lavished upon him the friendly attentions of a friendly people. The same welcome was extended to all whether it was Senator Pat Harrison or Senator George, or Cordell Hull, and their dry followers from Mississippi, Georgia and Tennessee, or the wet Tammany tigers of New York, or the equally wet Brennans from Illinois. That was outside the convention hall and the rooms of the resolutions committee. Inside these places the wet forces of the party found the gloved hand of good fellowship had become a bare knuckled fist of a lusty fighter carrying a hard wallop. Outside the convention hall Gov. Dan Moody and his Texas delegates were the genial hosts. Inside the hall they were the shock troops of dry Democracy, leading the fight for a dry candidate, if possible, but more especially for a dry platform. They believed in prohibition, and they said so; they believed in enforcing the prohibitory law, and they said so; they did not want any modification, and they said so—emphatically. And a right gallant fight it was before it was all over, but in the end party harmony prevailed.

Houston Enjoyed It All

Houston made the most of her first national political convention. Her people were out to see all, and to be a part of as much as possible of the big show. Forty-eight hours before Chairman Shaver called the convention to order there was no mistaking the fact that a convention was coming. Sunday morning the streets were alive with hands shouting a welcome to each incoming delegation, and the buildings were gorgeously decorated with the national colors, in which the lone star state flag of Texas was a prominent feature. Every native son and daughter was as greatly excited as any small boy or girl attending their first circus performance. It was a big event in Houston, and the Houstonians wanted the whole world to know that they knew it.

In the arriving delegations there came the Bullies and the O'Flannagans, the Joneses and the Levinskys, the Patersons and the Baumgartners. It was Democracy.

With the delegations came also the visitors, and many of the latter arrived in automobiles of all makes and many vintage. Largely they were farmers, but they were not the militant farmers that had been expected at Kansas City some two weeks before. They were the cotton farmers of Texas and the sugar cane growers of Louisiana—they and their families came to town to give a sampled Democracy the once over.

Many Bands and Two Tunas "Dixie" was the favorite piece of the band leaders until Monday afternoon following the arrival of the New York delegation. After that the entire town was fed "The Sidewalks of New York" as its inspirational music. As soon as the New York delegation and the members of Tammany reached Houston it was Gov. Smith's forces that dominated the situation, and there was no longer a doubt of his nomination among even those who were opposed to him. The Smith forces could not only dictate the nomination, but could write the platform as well if they were so disposed. They were not anxious to use their power to the extent of dictating the platform; on that they were willing to listen to argument and to compromise with the south and west in the interest of party harmony.

The Women Take a Hand

A noticeable feature of the convention was the number of women visitors. Many of them were relatives of delegates, but many more were women who wished to be heard in the halls of the party, and came with the hope of influencing party action on subjects in which they were interested. Chief of these subjects was that of prohibition, and the women—most of them it seemed—were dry. They met at breakfasts, and teas, and real, sure-enough political meetings, and demanded in emphatic language a dry plank in the platform. Many others of them were interested only in having a good time, and they had it. They enjoyed the hospitality extended them at Houston, and they had brought their bathing suits along and enjoyed both the hospitality and the beach at Galveston. The Democratic convention, from either a business or a social standpoint, was far from being a dry party.

Prominent among the visiting women were Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Al Smith, and Mrs. Jimmy Walker. Mrs. Wilson was very much the heroine of the occasion, and she figured in many social and civic affairs during her stay in Houston. Mrs. Smith was accompanied by her bride daughter, and Mrs. Walker, wife of the mayor of New York, made her headquarters at Galveston, motoring back and forth to attend the convention each day. All three of the ladies attended a very considerable amount of the social and session of the convention.

GOVERNOR SMITH SENDS MESSAGE OF ACCEPTANCE

WOULD TAKE REFERENDUM ON PROHIBITION TO PEOPLE AND END CRIME WAVE

Albany, N. Y., June 29.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith accepted the democratic nomination for the presidency in a 600-word telegram today, a full half of which was devoted to a statement of his position on the prohibition question. Shortly after this telegram, which was addressed to Senator Joseph T. Robinson as permanent chairman of the convention in Houston, was made public, Senator Robinson was nominated as vice-president and the governor sent him a telegram of congratulation.

Reiterates Stand on Liquor Issue

In his acceptance telegram Governor Smith stated that if elected he would enforce the constitution and laws without reservation or evasion, but immediately followed this with a reiteration of his belief that there should be fundamental changes in the legislative provisions for prohibition.

"While I fully appreciate," he said, "that these changes can only be made by the people themselves through their elected representatives, I feel it to be the duty of the chosen leader of the people to point the way which in his opinion, leads to a sane, sensible solution of a condition which I am convinced is entirely unsatisfactory to the great mass of our people."

He assured the convention that in his formal acceptance of the nomination he would give his views in full "upon all of the issues of the campaign," and closed with an expression of confidence that he would lead his party to victory in November.

Deluge of Congratulations

During the day hundreds of telegrams of congratulation were received and a staff of secretaries began sorting them out. Two state troopers were placed on guard at the gates to the executive mansion, but all day long admirers stood outside the iron fence and peered up at the big house in hopes of catching a glimpse of the new nominee.

Newspaper men were received during the afternoon for distribution of copies of the acceptances, and the governor chatted with them in friendly fashion. Taking a copy of his telegram, he read to them, but without comment, the part dealing with prohibition, skipping all the preliminaries.

The Governor's Message

Following is the text of the governor's telegram, addressed to Senator Robinson as chairman of the convention:

"I receive your message on behalf of the convention. With a deep sense of responsibility and a fervent prayer for the guidance of divine Providence I accept the call of my party to lead it in the national campaign. I can think of no greater privilege in this world than to serve our country. My gratitude to the convention for its expression of confidence in me I cannot adequately express in this telegram. I will have to make it manifest by single-handed devotion to the United States and her people in every section.

"The happiness and welfare of millions of men, women and children who constitute the nation was the great driving force behind the doctrine enunciated by the immortal Jefferson given life by him and carried through by Cleveland and Wilson. I am convinced that our platform voices that doctrine. I stand committed to the platform and will welcome an opportunity to reorganize and make more efficient the agencies of government to the end that the burden of taxation may be lightened.

Job at Republicans

"Our platform lays at rest the absurd claim insidiously put out by republicans propaganda that the republican party has a monopoly upon the mechanics of prosperity. Our platform in its tariff and financial policy gives assurance to every legitimate business man, wage earner, farmer and taxpayer that prosperity will not be conserved, but fairly distributed among all.

"The definite declaration of the convention to aid agriculture and the planks dealing with labor problems are sound, progressive and sincere, as is also the party commitment to the development of our water power without alienating our God-given resources. Our plank on foreign policy states the simple truth that the divine command to 'love thy neighbor as thyself' contains no limitation and was intended to apply as between nations.

"The equal and even enforcement of law is the cornerstone upon which rests the whole structure of democratic government. If it is the will of the people of this nation that I am to take an oath as president of the United States to protect and defend our constitution and laws, I will execute that oath to the limit of my ability without reservation or evasion.

For Fundamental Changes

"It is well known that I believe there should be fundamental changes in the present provisions for national prohibition, based as I stated in my Jackson Day letter, on the fearless application to the problem of the principles of Jeffersonian democracy. While I fully appreciate that these changes can only be made by the people themselves through their elected legislative representatives, I feel it to be the duty of the chosen leader of the people to point the way which, in his opinion, leads to a sane, sensible solution of a condition which I am convinced is entirely unsatisfactory to the great mass of our people.

"Common honesty compels us to admit that corruption of law enforcement officials, bootlegging and lawlessness are now prevalent throughout the country. I am satisfied that without returning to the old evils that grew from the saloon, which years ago I held and still hold was and ought always to be a defunct institution in this country, by the application of the democratic principles of rights, we can secure real temperance, respect for law and eradication of the existing evils.

"In my formal acceptance of your nomination, I shall give to the people of the country my views in full upon all of the issues of the campaign. In the way that I know you can do it, give the delegates my warmest thanks for the confidence they have reposed in me and my assurance that, with their support, I confidently expect to lead the historic democratic party to victory in November."

Ill tempered folk, like coal, always look black and suggest flames. Then of course ashes and clinkers, etc., have a place in this suggested comparison.

Concerning men, women are illogical; to believe all men are knaves is unjust. But to believe any of them saints is just nonsense.

Stupid women have their uses—they give the bright ones additional opportunities.

They tell me the reason they measure the sea in knots is because they would never get the ocean (tied) if they didn't.

The utility of not knowing is boundless, yet knowledge is scarcely as powerful as skilled ignorance.

It seems the only fellows who can raise money easily are those that don't need it badly.

I wonder when most of us will realize that children as a rule, have their parents sized up pretty well.

These terribly exclusive clubs and so forth, like these high hat, exclusive churches, always remind me of another very exclusive thing—death.

There's one thing I've found as pleasant as making a good sale. That's collecting the money.

I have it all figured out that the ideal partnership will be an ideal optimist and an ideal pessimist. It works as well in business as in government, for the optimist can be a bearcat in thinking up and planning new ideas and stunts, and the pessimist can be equally bearcat in killing and squashing them, resulting in a slow-going checking system which has great merit. When an idea survives this process it will generally prove sound and profitable.

Mr. H. R. Edwards is the first Texas representative of the National Life Association of Des Moines, Iowa to have gained the distinction of membership in the Better Business Club of his company. His achievement of this distinction is greatly pleasing for it notes that out of a spirited effort by large numbers of salesmen thruout the United States Mr. Edwards has so far exceeded the field to be placed among the early members for that honor. He is very proud of the little button that he is able to wear and his certificate of membership which points him out as one very efficient and well grounded in his chosen field of endeavor.

Mr. Edwards has been identified with the teaching profession in Milam county for a number of years and is well known over the county, being at present superintendent of the public schools at Milano.

Two Minute Sermons

By REV. GEO. HENRY
A Collect

The Priscilla Club of Plainville prints a collect on the first page of its year book that is worth passing on to the public: "Keep us, O God, from pettiness. Let us be large in thought, in word, in deed. Let us be done with fault finding and leave off self-seeking. May we put away all pretense and meet each other face to face without self pity and without prejudice. May we never be hasty in judgment and always generous. Let us take time for all things that make us grow calm, serene, gentle. Teach us to put in all our better impulses, straightforward and unafraid. Grant that we may realize that it is the little things that create differences; that in the big things in life we are one. And may we strive to touch and know the great common woman's heart of us all. And, oh Lord God, let us not forget to be kind." Here is a prayer in line with God's will concerning us; a prayer the loving father will surely answer if offered sincerely and in the name of Christ.

Here's a message to anyone who needs a new roof—whether it is on a new home or your old one.

Roofs that play out after 4 to 8 years of service are expensive. You then duplicate the original expense.

The name Eternit is the symbol of permanence. Asbestos rock for Eternits is mined down in South Africa. It is used along with the highest grade Portland Cement. The layer-built construction makes Eternits stronger and tougher.

You should see these shingles—rigid pieces of rock. The name Eternit embossed on every shingle for your protection—your guarantee of permanence.

Everlasting because there's nothing to rot, nothing to rust and truly a roof that will last as long as the foundations.

These are a few of the reasons why you should consider

Our plan of applying these shingles right over your old roof is cheaper. No time is wasted in tearing off the old shingles. The finished job is better, because your old shingles act as an insulator. Your rooms will be cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

Please Note the Recent Important Changes.

Those who have at some time studied Byrne Simplified Shorthand or Byrne Practical Bookkeeping, or both, and those that have not but desire to enter a Commercial College will please note: All royalty contracts with other schools heretofore teaching my systems have been closed out so as to make the Byrne Commercial College of Dallas, Texas, which I own and control, the only commercial school in Texas now permitted to teach the Famous Byrne Simplified Shorthand and Byrne Practical Bookkeeping. You are, no doubt asked from time to time to recommend a commercial school and if you have studied these systems, you realize their advantages in that they can be mastered in half the time and at half the cost of others.

May I mail you a catalogue of the Byrne Commercial College that you may better realize what a large and splendid school I am building in Dallas—The City of Employment.

Have you studied either Byrne Simplified Shorthand or the Byrne Practical Bookkeeping?

Kindly give the names and addresses of young people likely to be interested in a business education in the near future.
